OTHER FOREIGN LANGUAGE TESTS

Language Proficiency Tests

The Language Proficiency Tests are taken for two purposes: (1) As a challenging exam to satisfy foreign language requirements for Liberal Arts and Science majors; and/or (2) to waive 200-level language courses that are prerequisites for more advanced classes. The test is open to any Liberal Arts and Sciences major and any student wishing to waive the appropriate 200-level courses.

Tests offered

- French Language Proficiency Test
- German Language Proficiency Test
- Italian Language Proficiency Test
- Russian Language Proficiency Test

If you are interested in a language not listed above, please contact the appropriate academic department to inquire about any language proficiency tests they may offer.

Note: According to the SDSU General Catalog, some language requirements may also be satisfied through Advanced Placement (AP) credit, College Level Examination (CLEP) credit, and/or International Baccalaureate (IB) credit.
